Final Word of Organiser Policy

1. Depending on situations on hand, the event organiser may choose to modify the published schedule without need of the acceptance of the group.
2. The organiser, in his/her abundant experience is given free will to exercise this extraordinary power in unavoidable circumstances.
3. Once a decision is made, the organiser's word is final and cannot / should not be challenged. This is keeping in view that most of the events include a possibility of personal injury and risk and that the organiser's decision is taken in the larger interest of the group.
4. No refund will be given if one or more scheduled stops are missed due to unavoidable circumstances with the local conditions. The member will not request for the same from The Great Outdoors as well.
